

(re)searching voices

Call for Papers

(re)searching voices is a lecture series by students for students and all those who want to listen to interesting talks from the fields of literary and cultural studies, linguistics, and other arts and humanities. Our central aim is to create a space in which an academic exchange and inspiring dialogue among students can thrive in a familiar environment and regardless of one's degree - and that includes tea and snacks!

If you wish to give a talk you can freely choose the topic of your presentation, be it a paper or thesis you are currently working on or simply an issue you are really passionate about. After your talk, which should last between 20 and 45 minutes, we will have an open discussion during which questions can be answered and further impulses may be given.

Please send us an email at researching.voices@uni-bonn.de until 15 March 2020, including a preliminary title, a few sentences on your chosen topic as well as the estimated duration of your paper. We will then pick out the presenters for the summer term and get in touch with you to set a date for your presentation. Towards the beginning of April we will send out the fixed programme and schedule for the semester.

We look forward to hearing from you!

Organisers: Marie Berndt, Marvin Reimann and Peri Sipahi