

Public Lecture:

Prof. Dr. Andrew Feenberg introduces the field of philosophy of technology as a necessary and valuable discourse for current times. The lecture centers around critical theory of technology and will be inspired by Prof. Feenberg's latest book The Ruthless Critique of Everything Existing: Nature and Revolution in Marcuse's Philosophy of Praxis (2023).

Open to all.

Critical Constructivism, Environmental Movements, and Technology | A. Feenberg

The aim of this workshop is to connect Prof. Feenberg's thoughts on technology and politics to political movements for sustainability, environmental movements in particular.

Core notions discussed will include 'Technology as Embodied Politics' and 'Democratic Rationalizations', as developed in Prof. Feenberg's book Questioning Technology (1999).

Open to all academic researchers in the humanities of the University of Bonn, with priority to PhD students. Especially relevant for those interested in STS, politics of technology, ethics of technology.
