

(RE)SEARCHING VOICES

Do you have a cool topic you want to share with the world?

Tell us about it! \(re\)searching voices is a lecture series by students for students and all those who want to listen to interesting talks from the fields of literary and cultural studies and linguistics. Our aim is to create a space in which academic exchange and inspiring dialogue among students can thrive in a familiar environment and regardless of one's degree. Join us as a listener or give a presentation yourself.

You are free to choose whatever topic you like. We are not expecting impeccable, perfectly argued presentations, but look forward to hearing about your work in progress, be it on a term paper, your thesis, or any other topic that has caught your scholarly interest.

Interested? Email us at researching.voices@uni-bonn.de by 31 October 2022, including a preliminary title, a few sentences on your chosen topic as well as the estimated duration of your paper (20 or 45 minutes). We will then get in touch to set a date for your talk. Also contact us if you have any questions regarding the event, papers or anything else! We'll meet on Wednesdays, 6-7:30pm at the Department for English, American and Celtic Studies, Room 2.015.

Organisers: Charlotte Epple, Kerstin Müller & Tabea Wiegand
