

Look At Me

With what nonsense,
Gibberish and guff
We're wasting our time
For temporary lust.
A nation of epicureans and narcissists
We don't really care about each other but

M E

l o o k a t m e !

Always striving for attention
Fearing to be alone for
Then we are confronted
With the same old worries and concerns.

The void is always there.
Forever howling, never closing.
People try to fill it with all sorts of things;
consuming, buying, eating, talking, exercising
The hell out of themselves; just to feel alive.
Watch my stories, look at my new cool stuff,

L o o k a t m e

M E !

I'm the special snowflake
Your new best friend.
Like me, follow me,
Repost my stolen thoughts,
Copy and paste;
Automatic movements.

One tap, Two taps,
A heart and a new follower.
Everybody wants a piece of me
Maybe, one day I can love myself.

And slowly we're losing
Who we used to be.
We're falling deep into a pit
From where we cannot see
The way out (log out).

Walking like zombies,
Talking like robots,
Siri this, Alexa that,
Google a sense for my life.

All the deceptions, corruption & greed,
Everyday lies and photoshopped perfection
Someday it won't matter no more,
And then we will realise:
The winner takes it all.

Nature takes it all
The only thing humans cannot control.
The irrepressible beast,
It will take us all.

But meanwhile, the rich are on the titanic
Dancing, laughing, sipping on champagne,
While the poor are screaming & dying in the sea.

And we're doing nothing
'Cuz we don't want to see

What is happening behind our
Brand-new screens.

(But hey,
Look at me!)
